

Nordic Fest Offer

BY MARGO BLACK

Wave Staff Writer

Heber Valley residents will have an exciting opportunity to witness world-class athletes compete at Soldier Hollow in just one week.

The Nordic Festival portion of the World Cup Games is slated to begin on Wednesday, Jan. 10.

Some of these athletes will also be participating in the Olympics next year.

Although emphasis is strongly placed on the competition, there is going to be a wide variety of entertainment and programs between events as well.

There will be a full range of activities, which will encompass the many cultures of this area.

Teepees have already been erected for the mountain man presentations. These will take place the first three days of the lives of

can do.
ers have
e I was
rowing
ne night
to the

ids who
with the

ey coin-

w from

see the
es. "But
ne cute

id they

ne is in

haved,
so no

nied by a ch
oning paren
invariably t
they're sm
than me wh
comes to the
and the be trip I'll receive a packet of oned thank-you letters from pictures they drew of the

aper-
t who
hinks
arter
en it
birds
es!

crudely cray-
n the kids with animals they

tatives show that they're different. My self-imposed deadline of three terms has ... freed me of most of the political pressures many of my peers in Congress face."

Studies by the National Taxpayers Union, Citizens Against Government Waste, the Cato Institute and others evidence the fact that those who voluntarily limit their terms in Congress are much more fiscally frugal and more courageous in opposing their party and congressional leaders on issues of principle. Mark Sanford's book provides a very perspective."

"The congressional non-career of Rep. Mark Sanford is a convincing Exhibit A in the case for citizen legislators," says National Review's Kate O'Beirne. "Mark Sanford nobly served the national interest, which he never defined as his own reelection."

In his Forward to the book, columnist Robert Novak notes, "Sanford's message is clear and consistent: term limits do make a difference. Imagine how different our government would be if involvement at the Nordic Festival.

Nordic Fest at Soldier Hollow

CONTINUED FROM PAGE A1

In addition to providing entertainment, local people will present the colors and perform the national anthem. An awards ceremony and flag ceremonies will also be handled by local volunteers. Flags representing the nations of the competitors will be displayed.

For those spectators who are interested in learning more about cross-country skiing, the Lodge at Soldier Hollow will have information, instruction and rentals. Soldier Hollow provides access to some of the best ski tracks, Krieger said. She also noted that the cross-country ski course is unique at Soldier Hollow because you can see the skiers and watch their progress most of the time, whereas on other tracks the athletes are hidden from view for the majority of the race.

When queried about the hosting and entertainment of the Olympics the response has been that it is still up in the air.

Krieger said that right now they have been focused on having a successful World Cup, before they tackle the Olympics. She mentioned that the World Cup Games was a test of sorts, and they would see what worked well here and maybe implement some them with the Olympics.

Phil Jordan, General Manager of the Soldier Hollow Venue, concurred. He said that although they have some ideas for the Olympics, they have nothing concrete at this time. Any ideas must be presented before the Salt Lake Olympic Committee (SLOC), which has the final say.

Nevertheless, Krieger strongly encourages attendance to the Nordic Festival.

Admission is free, and the chance to see these athletes in action is thrilling. Spend a day at Soldier Hollow. Between the competitions and the entertainment, it will be a day well spent.

$20,000 to compensate him for the religious discrimination he suffered. But on the path to victory, Jones had to endure grueling depositions and prying into his past as the union tried to smear him as a bigot and a hypocrite.

In a long line of cases, including Robert Roeser v. National Education Association, Foundation attorneys clarified the rights unions must accommodate the sincerely held religious beliefs of employees by allowing workers to divert their union fees to charity if the union's activities conflict with their religious convictions.

Foundation attorneys also forced university officials to rehire Roeser, while the court ordered the union to pay $100,000 for violating his rights.

G
100"

Wave
Bee

ee

New Year

- Day's Market
- Dominos Pizza
- Dairy Keen
- Taco Time
- Copy Copy
- Hub Cave
- Holiday Lanes
- Papa Murphy's
- Cecilia's Boutique
- Wagon Wheel
- Super Wash
- Subway
- McDonald's
- Wendy's
- Designs for All Seasons
- Don Pedro's
- Curves

